

OPMANTEK

13 December, 2013

Opmantek Releases Open-Audit Enterprise

Opmantek has released a commercial version of their hugely popular audit and inventory software Open-Audit (used by over 25,000 organisations globally).

The software - called Open-Audit Enterprise (OAE) – includes commercial support along with enhanced features like mapping, scheduled reporting, and easy-to-read graphs.

It has been less than 12 month's since Opmantek acquired the Open-Audit intellectual property for an undisclosed sum. Open-Audit's network scan and inventory audit features were quickly integrated into Opmantek's flagship product, NMIS. Further development of the product has continued with OAE alpha testing receiving high acclaim and a number of pre-orders from a wide range of business sectors. Both NMIS and Open-Audit continue to receive broad international interest with along with continued growth of Opmantek's 45,000 user base.

Opmantek has now successfully commercialised all the open-source products it oversees and their successful commercial open source business model has attracted significant interest in Latin America, North America and Europe. A new organisation implements Opmantek software every 8 minutes.

Danny Maher
Managing Director
Opmantek Ltd