OPMANTEK'S STRONG INTERNATIONAL GROWTH CONTINUES

Monday, 5th September 2016

Opmantek's period of strong growth has continued with previous quarter results seeing Europe emerging as the top performing region for the first time after the signing of significant new business.

Opmantek established their Europe office 18 months ago, following the success of the US and Latin America sales offices the previous year. Opmantek CEO, Danny Maher said that the strong sales achieved by the European office provide evidence that the enterprise sales model that the company has been implementing is both scalable and repeatable in other key commercial territories. "The strong results in Europe over the past quarter have given us further confidence in our international sales strategy and the revenues from these new contracts will allow us to accelerate the roll out of additional regional sales offices in Brazil and Asia."

To support the growing number of large commercial contracts, the company have employed additional development and sales engineers in the US, UK and Australia this month and have formed a partnership with a US marketing firm that will be working with Opmantek to create new marketing collateral and execute new digital strategies in line with the enterprise sales model.
